

Student Self-Assessment

Setting clear goals and intentions is a great way to focus at the beginning of the term. Try using a self-assessment at the beginning of the term for each of your courses, keep track of your goals and challenges, and check in with your self-assessment after the term midpoint to reassess your strategies.

Our learning objectives:

[Here, insert the learning objectives specified in your course syllabus]

Of the learning objectives defined above, which do you think will be the easiest to achieve?

Of the learning objectives defined above, which do you think will be the most difficult to achieve?

What are your goals/intentions for this class? In other words, what do you want to achieve in this course beyond a particular grade? (Examples: improved writing skills, enhanced reasoning)

Beyond a particular grade, how will you know that you have achieved this?

What are the biggest challenges or obstacles that will likely get in the way of achieving your goals?

What can you do to anticipate and/or overcome these challenges?

What are three short-term goals for this class that you can achieve before the midterm exam (or final exam)?
